PREFACE

I have taken extreme care to compile this Roll as accurately as possible, but it is almost inevitable that there should be omissions and that mistakes should have crept in.

With regard to the former, if such should unfortunately prove to be the case after this book is published, all I can do is to issue a second volume or an appendix to this; with regard to the second, all I can do is to apologise, not for want of care, but for inaccurate information.

I have to thank many correspondents throughout the world for valuable aid.

I have to thank the Colonial Bishops for the great help they have given me, especially those of Canada and New Zealand.

It seems that Colonial records of the Clergy in each Diocese are kept far more accurately than those of the Mother Country.

So far as I have been able to discover, there is not a single Diocese in England that has any official record of Clergy, or sons and daughters of Clergy, who gave their lives in the War, or even served; and very few have imperfect lists, compiled by private individuals, but many have none of any sort or kind, whereas the Colonial Dioceses have every detail even to the number on the grave memorials in each Cemetery.

This lack of official lists in England has rendered my work very laborious.

I have also to thank the Public School authorities for great help.

The Navy and the War Office lists are very accurate, but as no indication of parentage is given, I have been compelled to spend much time in examining many thousands of names.

It is impossible within the limits of this Preface to mention all those who helped me in compiling this Roll, but they know from private correspondence how much I thank them. The various Rolls of Honour have also helped me.

It has been a long and trying task, involving an enormous correspondence reaching all over the world, but at the same time a labour of love, inasmuch as it has been done as a Memorial of all those whom we clergy have loved and lost awhile.

RICHARD USSHER,

Vicar of Westbury,

Brackley, Northants.
